

Children of Gaia, this is Andromeda.

You stand in a place that is sacred not only in location but in the knowledge that is seeded here. There are many such power points around the earth, coded to hold exceptionally high frequencies which cannot be disrupted by the overlay of religious stories and constructs. Feel now in your feet the truth, the wisdom, the light contained in this space. You stand where we stand, walk where we walk. Dearest ones, the time approaches fast where these secrets will spill over into a world which is at last ready to receive them. Thank you for your service. We are one.

Rebecca Dancer April 2017