

Power-Part 1

Class 3-Emergent Initiation

October 8, 2012

Mark and White Eagle channeled by Jonette Crowley, copyright 2012. www.JonetteCrowley.com
(303) 689-9318

MARK-EMERGENT INITIATION

Welcome marvelous beings. This is Mark.

Let us find again the state from last week of embodied power, of bringing into the now moment, the power of all your life, all your lives, all your aspects, and all the particles that are you. Make sure your back is straight, your shoulders comfortable. Ask your intuition how to reposition your hands. Align yourself in preparation for a switch to be thrown, and increased voltage or power to cascade through you, not just in the physical, but also in the higher dimensions as well.

Spend a few minutes aligning, strengthening and grounding. You might notice that as you align, you automatically go to the still space. The mind chatter is quieted, and you find you are undefended, one of the steps we talked about last week. It automatically happens. The spin of the electrons in your atoms begins to readjust, and a harmony frequency pattern that enables alignment. If you notice yourself becoming tense, allow yourself to relax, so this becomes a relaxed state of holding power, which is new to most of you. Power has been anything but relaxed in your human world.

You might notice that as the sense of aligning for power deepens, that multi-dimensional layers of you awaken, that there is more of you present as you prepare and align. It should be quite a comfortable state, a state of readiness without anxiety, readiness in the now moment. Notice when we remind you to align, that the thing that happens most is you align your vertical axes. You align your chakras. You align your meridians. You align from Heaven to Earth. That is a good start.

We would like you now; in addition to that normal sort of alignment, that straight and tall alignment, to align in a non-linear, holographic way, so the alignment just doesn't run up and down. It runs in many directions, in many dimensions. It's hard to describe. It's like holographic grounding, except it's more than grounding. It is more actively aligned. See if you can find what we're trying to describe on your own.

You're adding complexity into your preparedness, into your alignment. Alignment with align is probably the wrong word now. Notice how you've branched out of this linear time/space, and your alignment is more cosmic, more holographic.

We're waiting because changes are happening in your body. You may feel heat. You may feel different. You may certainly feel expanded beyond the borders of your body.

Say yes or no if you feel expanded, different, aligned, and ready for a power kick.

Generally, when we ask you to align, and we say that there's going to be greater voltage, it seems that the voltage comes from somewhere. Perhaps it comes from the Great Central Sun, and it runs down invisible meridians through your crown chakra, through your body. This is not going to be that. We will help set up an energy exchange where the power isn't energy. It is much more than that, but energy's probably a fine word. The power does not come from outside. It is not sourced externally. It comes from the groundedness and alignment itself. It's as if once you find this state of multi-dimensional, multi-linear alignment, the power is actually there. We've been holding it back so we could talk, and you could feel aligned without being swamped or overwhelmed by power. Do you understand that this is going to be an experience where power isn't coming from somewhere else?

It may come slowly. We have never done this experiment before, or it may come all at once. It may come in waves, blasts, explosions, or you may feel nothing. We'll just play with it, and as you feel aligned, expanded, multi-dimensional, holographic, all of those code words, and now power arises from within. It may be energy, but it may be much more than the feeling of energy. Just go with whatever it is. We'll be silent for quite a few minutes.

Stay focused on your experience.

Don't be surprised if the power doesn't feel like power.

Notice what it does feel like, what qualities it does have. Imagine the field of this multi-linear, multi-dimensional power that has emerged, rather than been transmitted to you, is resonating to your atoms, your DNA, your future, your past, that you are actually claiming now a significant shift, an accelerated transformation, though it may not feel like movement.

We know this is hard to grasp. It's more of a being space.

We're ready to take you to another level of observation. This power doesn't feel or fit into what you normally feel, but we hope you can feel that there is something profound having emerged in your experience, and in your consciousness. Power in the human earth and in this cosmos has been abused in many ways. Free will has sometimes been trampled. Violence has been used over love, and yet this power, based on love and wisdom that emerges from a cosmic alignment can begin to break apart human structures and institutions, human emotions that have abused power. The de-construction is not one of violence, for true power does not breed violence. It is a lifting of the structure, so they will not crumble into mass chaos. The structures of old power will begin to be lifted and morphed into this field that you feel. We'll call it an emergent field of power.

We invite you to expand your experience to encompass culture, human institutions, countries, politics, people, history, wherever power has been misused, and simply include it in the field of your grasping. Know that it does not create conflict. This power is different. It is power that is complimentary. It changes and lifts. We give you that as a mission. Again we will be silent.

Imagine dear ones, violence and struggle transformed, control and fairness transformed, that this sense of power that is beyond human power, yet it isn't caused from God. It emerges from the alignment of the system itself. Imagine that this power breeds more power, that the alignment and the transformation calls forth more, which brings an ever accelerating upward momentum of evolution. Allow your mind, your soul, to travel, following the path of this evolution.

If you've become tense, allow yourself to relax again. Let yourself be lost in this, so that perhaps you even lose yourself. It's only the small self anyway.

There seems to be another level that some of you are floating to. We call it out, so that you are authorized through another, it's not a singular doorway, but another level of experience, a broader, less familiar level of experience. If you find yourself shifting, changing, you have our permission, and our support.

Allow yourself to sense the universe of oneness that is opening to you, so that it's not simply an idea, but it begins to be an experience.

Dear ones, as you can conceive something so you can manifest it, you talk about oneness, but it hasn't been something you could easily conceive. As you can feel this brand of power, so different than the power you've known, and it moves you into an experience of oneness, it begins to be real. From the experience of it being real, it can become manifest.

The impact of your being able to experience what you're experiencing, it moves through all consciousness, and it claims the attention of great cosmic beings who support a furtherance of this elemental force. You are joined by great beings beyond time that can hold the space for you, expand this, and help you create peace, prosperity, and power upon your planet. Feel now the convening, or the convocation of great cosmic beings and forces to join you in your efforts.

Notice as they join, you have to become more aligned, more cosmic, more holographic. You have to expand in new ways, because their presence becomes known to you.

Keep feeling relaxed, maintaining your new sort of alignment. Notice that this kind of power has a light to it. It has a lightness, a love and wisdom. It has a joy to it. It's a very different quality than power that has been misused upon this earth. Imagine it, power based on love and wisdom, power that causes joy, and opens the door to the experience of oneness. Imagine.

If you've lost your connection to the earth, reaffirm it. You can do that without losing your other connection.

You may call this an emergent initiation of power. Begin to do what it takes to feel integrated, that the changes are permanently in your body, in your life, in your being, that the alignment is easy to find, and the emergent power easy to hold, and the oneness easy to behold.

Just to remind you, in a few minutes we'll ask you to be able to speak, so head in the direction of normal life.

We're so proud of how multi-faceted you've become, but it does make it harder to return. Remember your holographic grounding. You don't need to return the same way into your body, but ground everywhere in the higher dimensions. Center yourself everywhere. That should make it much easier.

Magnificent beings, we're going to leave the building so that our presence doesn't make it hard for you to return. We will be back later.

GROUP COMMENTS

COMMENT 1: (Anne) This is Anne. The thing that came to me was how awesome it is to be able to be in that power, and just through intention, hold it for everything that needs it.

JONETTE: Didn't it feel so different than power as we know it. It wasn't even the right word anymore.

ANNE: It really wasn't. It was just this expanded, but solid state.

JONETTE: That's a good description, expanded, yet solid.

COMMENT 2: (Mickie) This is Mickie. When the energy or power was in the beginning, I've got a vision of a wheat field, and what the sound of wind would be like waiving through the wheat. It's not back and forth, but swirling. It was the feeling of the sound. When he talked about the DNA, it was like each grain of wheat expanded and popped, like if you could feel what popcorn felt like when it was popping.

JONETTE: That was just to remind you, that was when we went from alignment, where most of us did the up and down, to this multi-linear, multi-dimensional alignment. He said that really would change your DNA, your atoms, and the spin.

COMMENT 3: (Barbara) This is Barbara. When the power arose, initially, it seemed to start at my heart. Because I was expanded, it somehow came up from every cell. It was not external, but it came from somewhere within.

JONETTE: Did others feel that emergent quality? At that point we weren't just in our bodies. We had already expanded, so it emerged from itself. Normally there's a transmission. We receive. We go to. This was quite different. He said the emergence happens automatically with the alignment. He held it off, so we didn't feel it quite so much. The alignment and the emergent power is the same thing. That was an interesting thought.

COMMENT 4: (Ev) This is Ev. I could feel that it emerged from somewhere. I could feel it in my crown chakra, and in my throat. It was a physical feeling. When you shock yourself and get electricity, and you get that tingly feeling, this was like that through my whole body. It was very gentle. It felt like peach fuzz around my body. I got really hot at the beginning, and then it went away. I could feel it permeate not only my physical body, but I could actually feel it go to the etheric body as well. You could tell it was powerful, but it was God-like.

JONETTE: I'm listening to what you said Ev, and then back to what Mickie said. Wind can be very powerful, but it isn't sensed unless it hits up against something, a house, your leaves, and your face. It's that kind of power that it's there, but you don't feel it until rustles something.

COMMENT 5: (Karin) I think the reason Mark says this isn't going to feel like power, is because it's a very non-hierarchical thing. There's no destruction in it. In the beginning, the multi-alignment seemed to connect between my power chakra and my heart chakra, that everything seemed to line up from. It was like a dot with all this stuff coming out so I formed this fear. The expansion didn't feel like expansion until I had covered the whole planet. This state seemed to get very solid. It was holographic, even right up until I started speaking. It isn't an unequivocal demand for harmony. It didn't feel that way while I was there, but now that I'm out, it does feel like this is harmony, and that's that. It all has a right to be here. Every atom has an equal right to be. After Mark left, and I started to come back, I went from global, to more individual things. All of a sudden, something came up in my heart center, and said, I deserve harmony.

JONETTE: I want to repeat it so I remember it. It didn't feel like power, because it was not hierarchical or destructive. That was so clear. Thank you.

COMMENT 6: (Ev) This is Ev. There was this little tiny place, where it felt like this is the way it's always been. It was a little bit familiar, because we've been there before, but we lost it. It felt a little familiar.

COMMENT 7: (Mark) This is Mark. For me it gelled more toward the end of our experience together. When we were asked to straighten our backs a second time, the sense was kind of electrical like what Anne was saying. There was a click for me, and after that click I felt this feeling of welcome.

JONETTE: Was that at the time where we had brought that power through everything, and he said it's going to change. It's going to transform what's there in a kind way. He said it's like we've been seen. Was that the welcome?

MARK: Yes. It was like the welcoming of all these other beings, that we are being seen now.

JONETTE: I can imagine that the earth has been some kind of a planetary pariah. We take all the power. We take all the good, and we make it ugly, and struggle, and hate, and hurt Mother Earth. Finally, I think if we have these harmonious waves coming out, and we can actually reach these higher dimensions, they're going to look again at us, and think maybe those humans aren't a lost cause. I felt very joyful, but not the jumping up and down joy. It was more that deep well-being joy. I love the idea that this kind of power could transform the institutions, the people, the governments, but not in a destructive way, not in a violent way, in a way that lifts it and morphs into something else. That was a whole new idea for me. It seemed like the old has to be destroyed, or has to crumble. To think that this just morphs it and lifts it was wonderful.

COMMENT 8: (Tryna) This is Tryna. For me it was like actually being able to feel the field that we come from, not just talking about it, not just dipping into it, but also actually feeling it in every cell, feeling like the power of it is knowing it. There was one thing he said, that if you can conceive of it, it will manifest. That was something that was happening a lot this last weekend. I'd think, I haven't spoken to this person in a while, and then within the day they would call. You're in this, and just the vibration of whatever you think, feel, or say, is immediately becoming, and you're so aware of where you're at in this, that you just speak it and it starts to happen. There was a smooth, solid feel to this field.

JONETTE: Thank you for reminding us about the manifesting part. He said when you think of oneness as an idea, you can't manifest it, because it's a goal. It's a vision. I could actually feel in my body, that place we came from, that oneness. It will be easy to manifest throughout our experience, if we first know it and feel it, rather than having it as some idea. There were so many powerful bits in this.

COMMENT 9: (Marie) I think this is entirely new and different. We always looked for a source, a higher dimension, a spirit, a direction, some sort of a source or something to follow. There is no such thing. The only thing is just this total connectedness. That's it. We don't reach out to anywhere to itemize, to feed it in our body, connect to Mother Earth or the 8th dimension. It's a total connectedness.

COMMENT 10: (Karin) This is Karin. The feeling from this is so strong and solid. I feel like, you know who you really are, so don't shut down. Don't relax and space out with the TV. This is amazing.

COMMENT 11: (Anne) This is Anne. I was thinking, at the beginning when he had us go back into the state from last week, how quickly we did it. Immediately we were just right there.

JONETTE: What's so cool is, immediately we're right there when we're in this class, but I can't tell you how many times this last week I tried to get right there. I got maybe 30% of it, but when we gather, it's just so easy, even without Mark.

COMMENT 12: (Mickie) This is Mickie. I was at church yesterday and had just come out of the healing room, and the Pastor was giving communion. As I came up to here, we connected eye to eye, and she immediately went into this trance-like state, and shared a message with me. Neither of us blinked. As she was sharing the words, it was that same feeling I got tonight when Mark was talking about the shift and the welcome, and the cosmic beings. It was as if the words she was giving me, were me, yet universal consciousness, yet every higher being. The words weren't important. She was saying, in your being you will help others to heal in connectedness with your heart, and universal. You will be in an organization that will help to heal the planet. It was that connectivity. It was like we were not separate. The communication was universal.

JONETTE: What's so beautiful about that is it was true communion, not just eating bread and drinking wine. You had a communion.

As we sit here, and I hear your discussion, I'm always amazed that anyone can discuss these things that are non-discussable. I'm so grateful. I love how Mark has designed this whole thing. You think of Dharshan, where the Guru sits there, and everyone asks questions, and it's not a conversation. You miss so much if you think that a teacher has all the answers, and the people who are students, don't. I sit here listening to the wisdom of what each of you are saying, and it all clicks. Our system has become, the teacher's the one who talks. Mark teaches, but we all teach. I'm so grateful that we show up, we open our mouths, and that we are living a different style than most things. In most classes, the students, their participation is in asking questions. In here, our participation is our wisdom.

GROUP QUESTIONS FOR MARK

Welcome. This is Mark.

Already you carry yourselves differently. As you sit in your chairs, you are greater. As your mind contemplates the universe, your mind is greater, the universe is greater, the future is greater, and your fellow humans greater than they perhaps see themselves.

One of the gifts of holding power is holding it in a powerful way for others to acknowledge their power, in a way that is clean, non-violent, and non-competitive. We really wish to give birth within you to the idea of a oneness world of harmony, of clear and beautiful, infinite power that is never used against someone. It is possible, but it's been a long time from this earth. We ask you to give birth to that which seems impossible. You will be handing this world over to the young ones, to the children born, and not yet born, for they will have a very different mission. They will take the stability and the power, the breakthroughs that you are so quietly engineering, and they will create something that you will look down from Heaven and know that you were at the beginning of that. You were in the early part of the wave when you didn't know what you were doing, or why, or how. Now that you look down from Heaven, you see the manifestation of something truly extraordinary.

You are creating the place for the young ones, the ones who follow, and the ones who follow them. Even as you connected to the great beings who could see when you held your multi-dimensional, multi-linear power, so too can the ones not yet born. They applaud you, and they support you, because you are in your way helping to create the world they require in order to be born with the frequencies that they carry. The universe is in many ways extraordinarily grateful to you.

QUESTION 1: (Mickie) This is Mickie. Jonette was meditating on the 2012 shift, and she felt a block. She got an impression of the Sphinx, and what felt like a time gate. We were wondering what your thoughts are on that.

MARK: The December Solstice of this year 2012, many layers and dimensions line up, much like a Chinese puzzle, and when all of the alleyways line up, the marble drops from the outside to the inside. With this cosmic alignment, there is an overlay of possibilities, a nexus of potentials beyond time that cannot be accessed in your normal linear comprehension. The vast possibilities of the 2012 Solstice and after, because it's a gate, time can be experienced differently. It doesn't mean it will be experienced differently for everyone. It just means that the lid is off, and you have skills in time travel without going anywhere, of understanding the branches of time without having to choose one, understanding the holographic nature of time.

Most of the time when we have had you become holographic, you've become holographic in terms of space. You imagine your being everywhere in space, but if you can imagine becoming holographic in time as well. Her time gate that she saw is basically the opening of the door to much more easy comprehension, accessibility of holographic time. She felt a block, but it was as if linear time is blocked, and multi-linear time is born.

She saw a lion-like Sphinx. It is a guardian from the star system Sirius that always guards the most important portals. Low consciousness, undeveloped consciousness, and dark consciousness, will not be able to access this time gate. They will continue at the normal speed, and the normal world. Most of what you are will continue at the normal speed, at the normal world, but that part of you that takes these journeys with us, that part of you will be unleashed, and will be able to have access to so much more. The Sphinx guardian guards so that that the dark, and the lower vibrations cannot access and pollute the many time frames, the many potent possibilities that begin to be opened past this shift.

The shift is an opening. It is a doorway. It doesn't mean all of a sudden your lives will be different, it means your higher lives will be much greater. We expect that to impact your everyday life, but many people will not be impacted at all. They may however, actually feel increased chaos. You have harmonized with these greater holographic sorts of worlds, so you will just welcome it. With the gifts of navigation that you have been learning with us for many months, or many years, you will more than welcome the new possibilities. People, who are steadfast in their blinders on an only linear highway, will probably feel the impetus of chaos, and not really know what to do with it.

QUESTION 2: (Margie) This is Margie. I've heard that people who study that stars, are saying that there could be a whole restructuring of the economy by the end of the year. Does that fit with what you just said?

MARK: It does fit with what we said, that there are going to be levels of chaos. It's as if there's a tsunami of possibilities that washes over the planet earth. Those of you who've been dancing with possibilities, you're saying yes, finally. Those who, it's all they can do to struggle with no possibilities; it will feel like a tsunami of chaos. As you understand, what happens is that people withdraw, become fearful, so the stock market, your markets, your institutions, what triggers anything to collapse but fear? It is very important that you all are holographically, multi-dimensionally awake with the energies of power, the energies of love and wisdom, certainly the energies of fearlessness, because your resonant field can do a great deal for those who choose fear as a knee-jerk reaction, to feel a sense of calmness is out there somewhere. It's not one day to the next.

There are shifts in place, because there are so many like you waking up. There are people in government, in banking, in education, in all of these things, military, who also hold the same values you do, and who are also exploring in their own way. You are not alone. There are people like you everywhere, doing it in their way. Will there be changes? Yes. Are they changes that need to happen? Indeed. Will it feel chaotic? For many, yes. It is your finest hour, however, because you can surf on chaos, and find the oneness there, and begin to bring the seeds of oneness into the field that has some turmoil.

Let's talk about a field of turmoil. When a farmer plants his seeds at the beginning of the season, what does he do first? He turns the soil. He makes everything that had been all packed down and happily spending the winter, he turns it all up into turmoil. Why? Because it's that turned soil that is most receptive to the seed.

QUESTION 3: (Ev) This is Ev. A couple of us recently have gone through what seems like an initiation. For me it was 36 hours of great pain, great fever. It seemed to come out of nowhere. It was uncontrollable shivering. It didn't feel like it came from the earth. It felt like it came from somewhere else. Would you talk about that? What was that about?

MARK: Tonight was about alignment, and there are many ways to get realigned. Some of them, if you take the fast track, might cause that which hasn't been working in your body, to be realigned, and it throws someone into a fever, especially a fever as your body is changing at many, many levels. We'll just say it was a karmic preparation to make the sailing smoother. Not always when people feel sick, is it something like that. It was a physical realignment to prepare you for tonight's more spiritual, energetic realignment.

QUESTION 4: (Karin) About a year ago, you listed off symptoms that we could have if we were going through a growth spurt, or receiving more contact with other planes. I still remember some of those symptoms, but trans-position errors, and being clumsy, dropping things were not among them. I'm wondering if those kinds of symptoms are coming from a spiritual origin.

MARK: We probably didn't mention trans-position errors, because it's very much an accounting question. Clumsiness, falling, tripping, dropping things, is a wake-up call that you've lost your balance. When that happens, it's not so much a symptom of growth, as a symptom that growth needs to get in and you're not aligned. Sit, find this energy that you had today, align vertically, and then align in a multi-dimensional, holographic way. It's a sign of being ungrounded in yourself. It can be easily cured by all the gifts that you have, and all the tools that you have.

QUESTION 5: (Mickie) This is Mickie. I had an experience yesterday that was like communication with another being. It felt like the communication could have been made without words. It felt like collective communication coming from the cosmic beings that came in earlier, but also myself.

MARK: Tonight was about an experience of emergent power, power emerged from your expanded being when it's aligned. Imagine that wisdom works the same way. It's emergent wisdom. It doesn't come from someone else. Although the communication seemed to come from some universal higher source, and be passed to you from a human being, let's just say that you're moving into a template or a pattern where emergent wisdom, which is even more than intuition dear ones, is going to be more commonplace. The wisdom might be intuition, but emergent wisdom can emerge anywhere. In this moment it emerged through your Pastor. Imagine if emergent wisdom can come through the songs on the radio, can come through many places, then you expect wisdom to emerge and to guide you.

QUESTION 6: (Victoria) This is Victoria. I was wondering if you could speak regarding The Gathering that will take place in December. We're talking about a lot of chaos and upheaval going on here. What is the plan for those who are gathering? Is there some way of preparation? What information can you share?

MARK: Those who gather, whether they gather with Jonette and crew in Mexico, or they gather in other ways, in other places, but with the intention of holding the Holy Spirit, not holy spirit with a capital T, but the holy spirit of all spirit. You create centers, so your gathering in Mexico will be the center of a vortex. If someone gathers at Machu Picchu, it's the center of a vortex. If someone gathers on their ranch in North Dakota, it's the center of a vortex. It doesn't have to be a so-called power place. That center of the vortex is a pillar of peace, a satellite dish to cosmic potential being grounded through your groups, being made into matter through your groups, and being transmitted through the collective consciousness of humans, through the consciousness of all nature, and then into the very matter of the earth.

Your gatherings will probably not experience chaos. Chaos can happen. Your flights are late, or there's a storm, however the quietude, the power, the certainty of those who are called to gather, is so powerful, and so ancient. You will come as Priests and Priestesses remembering, having been called forth to something that only unfolds as you answer the call.

You will enter a time warp during different periods of that gathering, where you are truly lifted upon a platform above your normal life. People who gather intentionally anywhere around the time of the Solstice, can experience this. It's not going to happen just because you are in Mexico.

This shift is the most co-creative shift that has happened upon the planet. There was a similar shift about 26,000 years ago, but human consciousness was not where it is now. It was quite different. That shift was more guided, more directed. This shift, because of the powerful awakening of human consciousness in the last few decades, will be much more co-creative. That's why it's important that people don't sit and wait for some wave to wash over you, but actually create the harmony of the wave by your intention, your hearts, your own holy spirit.

QUESTION 7: (Anne) This is Anne. Going along with that, what can those of us that are not going to The Gathering do to help support that? What type of things should we be doing?

MARK: If you can gather as they say, two or more, if you can gather with three as a minimum, some time of meditation, even though it's winter and can be cold, do something outside on Mother Earth. Jonette is reminded of last year when you all gathered here in the snow and did a ceremony, and it was most beautiful. Pick a couple of friends. If you can't find them here in your neighborhood, then do them over Skype, and have a meditation. Guide it yourselves. Intentionally connect to communities of light, which include the human gatherings of light, and the greater communities of light who are not embodied, openhearted, grounded on earth, joyful.

We will not invite you to do anything that is based on defending against fear or chaos. Come to all of it with an openheartedness of witnessing a birth, not trying to be safe from something bad. That is the best way to make sure something bad crawls up and bites you. We want you to really understand this. The world does not need your help being afraid. You are bigger than that now, and your non-fear, not just then, but anytime you read the papers, anytime the election doesn't go the way you want it, anything that your resonant field of non-fear, non-threatened, non-hopeless, non-struggle, is the greatest gift you can give the planet. Not all of you are meant to channel like Jonette, or travel around, and you're grateful for that, but all of you are meant to be pillars of light, communicating out a resonant field that is greater than you've experienced in the past, but not greater than you are.

QUESTION 8: (Mickie) This is Mickie. Tonight you mentioned holographic time. We can easily grasp holographic space, but time is elusive. A group of us have been meeting and talking about this. It's easier to talk about setting an intention and changing a future outcome, or pray for this outcome. There was a case where a group of people was prayed upon. It was a sealed study on a health issue 10 years later. The group that was prayed upon showed more positive results. We wondered, what is the capacity to have infinite possibility going back in time, and to set the intention. We talked about the emotion around that, maybe the loss of a loved one when you were young, and sometimes we could change the outcome of how that affected someone.

MARK: Imagine a picture where you have a dot in the center, and that is today, and you have a cone going out, and that is the future possibilities. In the beginning, the possibilities aren't so great, but they branch out further and further. You've got an ever-expanding cone of possibilities in the future. Do you understand what we say? Then that exact same cone branches out in the past.

A good analogy would be an hourglass. Do you see that the sand in the top of the hourglass represents the future, because it hasn't passed through the now yet. The now is the thin waist. The sand in the bottom of the hourglass represents the past, because it's already passed through the future. It's the shape of the hourglass. You turn it around, and the same sand passes the other way. In terms of spiritual physics, there is no difference between intending an outcome in the future, and intending an outcome in the past. Do you understand? Whether it is in motion or not doesn't matter. It's just harder for you to grasp it. There is a lot to be comprehended if you contemplate the hourglass. The sand is still there. The sand in the top, it's still there even though it hasn't passed through the now to become the past. The past is still there, until it's turned and becomes the now, and then the future.

MICKIE: We could almost grasp changing the emotion, the loss of a loved one, and how that changed a person's life, maybe negative coping skills, and changing to positive coping skills, for them to be more functioning and sustainable. We also talked about physically changing the outcome. Say you fell off your bike, skinned your knee and you have a scar. If you could reach back and get to the point where that scar would disappear, because that didn't happen.

MARK: This is a little more complex. We are glad you asked about a scar from falling off your bike, and not going through this person who died that made you emotionally upset, is now arisen from the dead. However, because time isn't really how you think it, it's more holographic. There is a whole aspect in the hologram where the person didn't die. They don't arise from the dead, but they didn't die. There is a particle in the holographic time/space reality, where you didn't even have a bike. It's hard to comprehend. It's going to be easier after December, 2012, because this time gate, it's there, but you have very vaporous contact beyond that gate, and much more of who you are, much more of your observational skills will be able to pass through the gate in 2013 and beyond. It's hard to describe. Play with magic. Play with intention, and let the universe teach you its way.

QUESTION 9: (Tryna) This is Tryna. What I'm beginning to grasp of this, with time being holographic, is that we can actually move our consciousness to any of these places, and grasp the wisdom, grasp knowledge. I was going down that track of, why do we need to wait until December, if we simply move ourselves into this other space and time, and work with the wisdom that's there already.

MARK: Precisely. You can absolutely do it. However, because most of your human life is attached, is tethered to this linear plane, it's going to be much easier once the sand actually passes through the center of the hourglass. Is it possible? Yes. You are all tethered so much to human consciousness, as much as you journey around, you still come home to your body. It's absolutely possible, and everything that you're doing, is making all of this imaginary co-creation possible.

We are grateful for your willingness to be greater than you feared you are. We will meet you on the inner-planes, and in this way we will meet you in a month.

We thank you, and may the blessings of the cosmos rain down upon you, nurturing you, and all of your dreams.

Thank you. This is Mark.